Advance orders*

Sixty (60) advance orders are required to schedule a project. Advance orders for limited editions receive a $25 discount and require a non-refundable $100 deposit, which is used to commission the project. Balance plus s/h is billed when the print is released.

The $100 deposit is not billed until the project is scheduled. To receive the advance order discount, the retainer must be paid before the print release date. If payment of retainer is received after release date, final bill will reflect the full non-discounted price.

If you would like to place an advance order for a cutaway illustration of a model not currently on the schedule, please send an email to TJTechart@comcast.net stating the model desired and whether you want a limited edition or standard print.

Once we get sixty orders for limited edition prints for any model, we will schedule a project and invoice you for a $100 non-refundable deposit to commission the project. You will not be invoiced unless the project is scheduled. We are offering a $25 discount for confirmed advanced orders.

About limited edition giclee fine art prints

Frequently Asked Questions

Q  Why do I need to pay a non-refundable retainer when I order a limited edition print in advance?
A  Creating a cutaway drawing is extremely time-consuming and expensive. Each model is extensively researched. First the VANs builders’ manual is purchased and studied after which Tom travels actual planes being built by their owners. There must be enough committed orders to cover time and resources before a project can be scheduled. That is why a discount is offered for those who commit prior to the release of a model. People who order in advance also have first opportunity to reserve a special number from the limited edition.

Q  Why does it take Tom so long to create the first model in a series?
A  See answer above “why do I need to pay a non-refundable retainer when I order a limited edition print in advance?”

Q  Why are giclee prints so expensive?
A  Giclee prints are expensive to produce. The prints are produced one at a time on a special ultra high-resolution laser printer, on museum quality acid-free paper, using the highest quality non-fading inks available. Each print takes about one hour to print.

Q  What is the difference between a giclee limited edition print and a standard print?
A  Longevity – giclee prints are produced on an ultra high-resolution laser printer on acid-free museum paper, using special non-fading inks. Framed properly giclee prints have a non-fading life of approximately 100 years. Standard prints are also laser printed and produce a beautiful image. However, printing includes more standard inks and papers with a shorter life expectancy.

Number of prints produced - Limited edition giclee’s are limited. Only one hundred 24”x36” giclee signed and numbered prints will be created for any given RV model. Limited edition prints generally increase in value over time – especially when the edition is sold out.

Signed by the artist – Limited edition giclee prints come signed and numbered by Tom Johnson. Standard prints are not signed. However, you can request to have your standard print signed and for an additional $10 or signed and personalized for an additional $20.

You can also request to have your limited edition personalized (in addition to signature and print number) for an additional $10. Just specify your request when you order your print.
Q How many prints will be created for limited editions?
A 100 for each model. For example: there will be 100 prints for the RV-8 and another 100 prints

Q Can I request a specific number for a limited edition?
A Yes. Just state which number you would like when you place your order. If it is available we will lock in your reservation for that number. It is best to specify more than one number, in order of preference, in case your number is already spoken for.

Q Can I have Tom personalize the signature on my limited edition giclee print?
A Yes. Just send your request with your order. Be sure to write the personalized message exactly the way you want Tom to write it on your print. Note: The personalized message should be short. You don’t want Tom writing all over the image . . .

Q Can I have Tom sign and personalize my standard print?
A Yes. For an additional $20 you can request that Tom sign and personalize your print. When you place your order indicate your wish to have the print signed or signed and personalized. If you are requesting personalization, be sure to write exactly what you want Tom to write on your print. Please keep the message short.
